Final Rejections

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-3,5 and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by JP 2002-346855A.

Referring to claim 1,11. JP 2002-346855A (JP'855) discloses a device for supplying snap rings (S; Figure 1), the device comprising:

a magazine (M) containing C-shaped snap rings (S) piled together each of which has a gap (See Figure 7b);

an extrusion member (10) that pushes out a snap ring (S) occupying a lowest position in the magazine (M) so that the gap of the snap ring is directed forwardly in an extruding direction (Figure 8);

a conveying path (P1) that conveys the snap ring (S) pushed out by the extrusion member (10; 15) to an area in which the snap ring is contracted to reduce a diameter (Figure 4) of the snap ring (S);

a projection-strip guide wall (42) formed to stand upwardly (Figure 6) in a substantially vertical direction with a width with which the projection-strip guide wall (42) can enter the gap of the snap ring in a termination area of the conveying path (See Figure 9a); and a restricting mechanism that restricts the gap of the snap ring so that the gap is directed in a direction from the magazine to the projection-strip guide wall.

Art Unit: 3651

Referring to claim 2. (JP'855) discloses a device for supplying snap rings (S; Figure 1), the device wherein the restricting mechanism includes:

an oscillating member (14) having a long guide part (15), the guide part being protractible and retractable with respect to a conveying surface (20) of the conveying path (21a) and having a width that can enter the gap (Figure 3); and an urging member that urges the oscillating member so that the guide part protrudes from the conveying surface (13).

Referring to claim 3. (JP'855) discloses a device for supplying snap rings (S; Figure 1), wherein the guide part of the oscillating member is formed to enter the gap of the snap ring occupying the lowest position in the magazine (M) in a stand-by state in which the snap ring (S) has not yet been pushed out.

Referring to claims 5. (JP'855) discloses a device for supplying snap rings (S; Figure 1), further comprising a cover member (cover of magazine M) disposed above the projection-strip guide wall (Figure 8a-8e), the cover member have a guide part formed to guide the gap of the snap ring (S) downwardly so as to direct the gap of the snap ring conveyed by the extrusion member (15) toward the projection-strip guide wall.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claim 4 and 10 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 10/08/2008 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. See rejection above.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
